

the current proposed rules for unlicensed use of low-powered broadcast spectrum include obstacles such as fees to broadcasters (who don't pay for spectrum anyway), special installation, GPS locations, etc. that make it less likely that the commercial and non-commercial benefits will be achieved.